Welcome to the University of Montevallo

We, the MONTAGE Staff, have endeavored to produce a memorable look at the 1995 - 1996 year. However, we have also tried to do a little more. During it 99 years of existence, the University of Montevallo has grown from a small vocational school for women, to its present status of an accredited liberal arts college. UM has undergone vast changes and improvements in every area, from its residence halls to its academic standards. In the face of all this progress, the university has managed to retain much of its heritage and charm. While portraying the 1995-1996 year, we have also tried to recapture some of Montevallo's spirit of the past. We've included a few old pictures and stories that tell a little about how Montevallo used to be as well as how it is now. Since this is the 1996 MONTAGE the book focuses primarily on the past year. However, by looking briefly at the past, we hope that we can help our viewers to reflect on where we, as a university have been, where we are now, and perhaps where we're going into our second century.

President Robert M. McChesney

Working at the University of Montevallo is a delightful and rewarding experience; made so in large part by the student body. Montevallo is, without question, a special place noted for its brick streets and historic buildings. More importantly, it is distinguished by the outstanding men and women who chose to enroll as Montevallo students.

Vice President David R. Aiken

Like Janus, we can look over our shoulders as well as forward toward the horizon. The University has much of which to be proud and many to thank. Teachers, administrators, coaches, classmates and friends have contributed to the accomplishments that have made the University of Montevallo the respected and unique institution it is today. Like generations before us we have, in truth, stood on the shoulders of giants as we have made our own individual contributions.

In 100 years, others will be looking over our accomplishments and evaluating our contribution to the historic fabric of the University. Our challenge, now, is to measure up to the reports we would wish to be written for us. And it is reassuring to know that we can meet that mark.

The University of Montevallo is well known throughout the state for its cobblestone streets, antebellum white columns and majestically roving quads. Upon arriving at Montevallo it has often been said that an undefinable urge to meander through our grassy lawns is irresistible. Many visitors proclaim the historical landmarks seem to attract them to want to think about how it use to be and what kind of stories these buildings could tell if only they could talk.

Montevallo tells the story of a small town community who's founders had a vision. A vision that would promote the city, county and state for centuries to come. Established in the 1820s as Wilson's hill. Montevallo had once been considered an important place in the state's historical competition between Tuscaloosa and Montgomery to see which town would become the state's capital. In addition, Montevallo threw in its bid to be considered for the home of what is now the University of Alabama.

In the late 1890's Montevallo's rural community were surpressed by rising cost and decreasing wages. Women had few options in how they could help their families survive. At this time in our history it was unheard of for women to take on jobs other than domestic chores, and raising their children. However, a supporter for women's reform by the name of Julia Tutwiler began to spearhead a movement that would liberate women to rise up from Thus, in 1893 lawmaker's in Montgomery approved a bill creating an industrial school for women. Montevallo was chosen as the site for the new school because of its central location in the state. Alabama Girls Industrial school opened its doors wide to a faculty of six and a enrollment of 145 women, a number which has continually increased since the doors opened. Alabama Girls Industrial school was dedicated to provide a liberal arts background, with a industrial skill. By 1923 under the name Alabama College a four year degree program was offered. Then later in 1956 Montevallo admitted its first male students in its history and was renamed the University of Montevallo.

Although, the University of Montevallo has undergone many changes over the last 99 years -- change of name, status, and enrollment. Montevallo continues to uplift the vision of its predecessors for promoting academic excellence to our students and by taking an active role in our community around us. In the words of our president Robert M. McChesney " New visionaries have arisen each with an understanding of what we were and what we could become, adding to our rich legacy and proud tradition."

In the eye's and heart's of Montevallo's alumni, students, faculty, staff, and administration it is only natural that we look back to our long line of heritage and tradition, reflect upon the sacrifice of many who love Montevallo so dear, and to look forward to the road ahead preparing for the challenge guiding us toward our second century of excellence.

Founder's Day 1995

President Robert M. McChesney and his administative staff stand for the national anthem and await the progress report from the Second Century Committee.

UM students await the beginning of the Senior march at the Founder's Day Convocation which is the beginning highlight in a students senior year.

Thomas G. Walker, Jr. '75, Chair of the Second Century Commission, presents the Second Century progress report to University of Montevallo alumni, faculty, student body and vistors.

UM faculty enjoy a sunny day and a laugh before marching into the 99th Founder's Day Celebration.

STUDENT LIFE

The University of Montevallo is more than simply going to classes, studying, and taking exams. Campus life also consists of plays, lectures, and College Night. This year, UM's Theatre Department put on several plays including "And Miss Reardon Drinks a Little" and "Company." Special guest lectures at UM included Andrew Hudgins, Nikki Giovanni, and David Covington. Most importantly, College Night remained the biggest event of the year.

COLLEGE NIGHT

No one but you can understand the reason behind all the sore thumbs in the scene shops, 2:00 a.m. practices on Palmer stage and the headaches you've gotten from the guy sitting behind you in the orchestra pit playing the wrong notes on his horn. But this is what it takes. This is College Night.

ALPHA DELTA PI

If there's someone you can talk to someone no one else can replace
If there's someone you can laugh with till the tears run down your face
If there's someone you can count on to advise and understand
If there's someone you can sit with and not need to say a word
If there's someone you can trust to keep each confidence she's heard
If there's someone you can think more of as each year comes to an end
You're a very lucky woman for you've found an A D Pi friend.

ALPHA GAMMA DELTA

Alpha Gamma Delta is a social sorority with chapters all over the United States and Canada. Our chapter here at the University of Montevallo sponsors the annual campus-wide fund-raiser "JAM WITH THE GAMS" to raise money for our philanthropy, the Alpha Gamma Delta Foundation. The Foundation contributes to Juvenile Diabetes and various scholarship funds. Members of Alpha Gam also participate in other campus and community activities including food drives, other fund-raisers and volunteer work.

In addition to our service oriented efforts, Alpha Gamma Delta holds two major functions per year for its members; a Fall Formal and a Spring Party along with a Pledge Bash and a Christmas Party. Alpha Gamma Delta participates in Formal Rush each fall.

Fall Rush paid off on bid day

This has been a very exciting year for the Tau Kappa Chapter. We have enjoyed many successes. Chi Omega captured the title of 1995 Greek Week Champions and our own Carla Alvear won Miss Greek Week. Some of the other highlights have been Intramural Champions, a fabulous Chi Omega Talent Show, a 3.1 cumulative GPA, and a pledge class of twenty four beautiful young ladies. One of our more special honors in celebrating Chi Omega's 100th birthday on April 5, 1995. Our chapter had more than one hundred alumnae attend this beautiful celebration. Marking our Centennial year, Tau Kappa Chapter was presented a very distinguished award this summer at our National Convention. The award of Excellence is the highest honor a Chi Omega Chapter can receive. Tau Kappa Chapter is very proud of all its accomplishments.

DELTA GAMMA

The Zeta Nu chapter of Delta Gamma at Montevallo had another wonderful Spring and Fall term. In the Spring the D.G.'s went to the Opryland Hotel in Tennessee for Spring Formal. The Delta Gamma placed number one in intramural soccer and softball, and number two in basketball. The Delta Gamma's placed second place in intramural football. Delta Gamma also actively participated in College Night with one cheerleader, six cast members, and seven cabinet members. Wendy Nix was selected by the students as Miss Montevallo.

The Fall semester started off with a fabulous rush where Delta Gamma achieved quota and chapter total. The D.G.'s celebrated with a pool party at an alumni's house. They also had a pledge bash for their new sisters as a hayride at Oak Mountain. The Delta Gamma's held their annual Anchor Splash which was a huge success raising over one thousand dollars for sight conservation and aid to the blind.

Zeta Nu was honored to receive the Patricia Peterson Danielson award for excellence in chapter programming given to only one chapter from each province. They also received their second financial excellence award consecutively, and the Province Financial Excellence award.

PHI MU

To be a Phi Mu is to bring to full maturity all those feminine qualities that deserve to be fostered and preserved throughout a woman's lifetime. For to be a Phi Mu is to look at the world with gentle, sensitive eyes that see what needs to be done and to possess a spirit that can't wait to be up and doing.

A Phi Mu has sweet ways, soft ways, charming ways-- ways that comfort, persuade and inspire. But a Phi Mu is not a weak vessel, for her spirit is unbreakable, her loyalties are fierce, and her love has a tough fiber that withstands all adversities.

To be a Phi Mu is to say "Yes" to all the thousands of demands that are made on her abilities and talents from day to day, but to know when to say a firm, unshakeable "No!".

A Phi Mu opens her heart to confidence, then locks the door. A Phi Mu encourages a man to be the best he can be. A Phi Mu is a mother to every child who approaches her.

To be a Phi Mu is to meet success with poise, grace and humility and to accept failure with courage and the determination to do a little better another day. A Phi Mu never gives up. She keeps a generous supply of hope in her heart and dispenses if freely to those around her.

It is not easy to be a woman in the busy and materialistic world we live in today. It is not easy to be a good influence, an inspiration and a source of joy and comfort to everyone she meets, but these things are the very essence of being a Phi Mu-- and to be a Phi Mu is a truly wonderful thing.

Alpha Tau Omega

The Eta Omega Chapter of Alpha Tau Omega has had a profound impact upon the University of Montevallo for over thirty years. The fraternity's presence is felt campus wide as the Taus continue to remain highly competitive in the classroom, on the athletic field, and in numerous campus organizations. The Student Government, the U.P.C., Lamda Sigma Theta, College Night, and the I.F.C., to name a few, have all benefited ATO's being among its ranks. Socially, in 1995 and '96 the chapter enjoyed it's usual success with such parties as the Viking Party, Fall and Spring formals T.D.F., and the Jungle Party. However, during this year the chapter continued to grow into more than just a social organization. The lessons learned and the friendships formed among ATO's are truly for a lifetime. It is eternal truths such as these that make being an Alpha Tau Omega a title one can always wear with pride.

The bedrock of Lamda Chi Alpha's brotherhood is honest friendship, a belief that every man is an individual not a clone to be shaped by others. Members of the fraternity are represented in every college from business to fine arts. Established in 1972, the Sigma Epsilon chapter is the campus leader in philanthropic events, taking the children from the speech and hearing impaired center to the sorority halls for trick or treating or hosting an Easter egg hunt for them. Last spring they continued their annual "teeter-totter-a-thon" and spent 24 consecutive hours rocking with the sisters of Alpha Gamma Delta to raise money for the United Cerebral Palsy fund. This fall their members collected 2100 lbs. of food for the Shelby County food bank as part Lamda Chi Alpha's nationally organized "Brothers Feeding Others" campaign which raised over 535,000 lbs. in the U.S. and Canada.

Each spring the brothers host their annual "Jimmy Buffett Party" now in its seventh year

The Sigma Epsilon Chapter is proud to be a part of an international and international and interracial fraternity and is honored to serve with distinction the Montevallo Community.

Women's Soccer goes NCAA

Fall 1995 marked a notable movement at the University of Montevallo as the commencement of the Lady Falcon's Soccer Program enabled it to become the ninth varsity sport at UM. The Lady Falcons featured several players from the 1994 Club Team joined by 12 new recruits. Members of the 1995 Lady Falcon's team were mostly freshman student athletes who matriculated from several local Alabama high schools. The Lady Falcons competed as members of the NCAA Division II Gulf South Conference.

FALCONS

As part of the expanding Montevallo athletic department, men's soccer was added in the fall of 1994. The 1995 season brought new changes to the Falcons: new coach Rob King with assistant coach Paschal Dunne. The squad returned with eleven players and was joined by twelve new faces. Top student athletes from in state, out of state and around the world brought diversity and balance to this young squad.

The University of Montevallo men's team competed as independent members in the NAIA and as members of the NCAA Division II Gulf South Conference in this, their second year in existence.

UM VOLLEYBALL

A Winning Tradition

Montevallo's women volleyball team has continued their winning tradition. Last year, the Lady Falcons had a 50- 5 season and a fifth place finish in the 1994 NAIA National Championship. This year UM volleyball had five returning starters, including three all- Americans for their first year in the Gulf South Conference and NCAA Division II. The Lady Falcons are fortunate to have experienced coach Judy Green and former player Shawna Sauls as assistant coach that lead them to a winning season.

The Lady Falcons have also participated in many community projects. The Walk for Multiple Sclerosis in Birmingham is one, and they participate in the Alabama Adopt- a- Mile highway program along Shelby county Highway 119. Former assistant coach Helene Kon organized the first Annual Montevallo Spring Charity Volleyball Festival to benefit Shelby Medical Center's Infant Wellness Program.
